Music Beds

Music beds are used as the audio that flesh out your show, bringing it from just the vocals into a completed entertainment program.

❖ How to Use Them

- Opening music bed
- Transitional bumpers in between segments
- Closing music bed

❖ My Method

- Add in extra elements to make the final sound more complete and unique to you. Examples:
  - Add the sound of a drink being stirred, if your show is about cocktails
  - Add the sound of wings flapping, if your show is about bird watching
- Work out how to best use each sound when editing the first episode together.

❖ Critical Note

Legal rules are constantly changing on using licensed (and even independent) music; for now, just don't use it.
